Paul Butts 'Graduates' From Dairy Feed School In Jackson, Tennessee

"SCHOOL'S NEVER OVER IF YOU'RE GOING TO KEEP UP WITH THE TIMES" says Paul Butts of Fulton (center) pictured here at a recent school for dairy feed dealers. At left is Ralph Edgington, Wayne Feed representative, and the gentleman on the right is Dr. William Byer, Wayne Feeds research specialist, and manager of the dairy department.

Paul Butts, Wayne Feeds Dealer representative from Fulton, Ky., was one of 30 persons attending a recent Dealer School on Wayne Dairy Feeding at the New Southern Hotel in Jackson, Tenn.

John M. Hall, Volunteer Division Manager, said that the purpose of the school was to enable Mr. Butts to better serve the dairymen of Fulton area in attaining better production from their dairy herds. Segments of the school included sessions on the importance of the Dairy Farmer in the future; the way that the dairy farmer will fit into the overall agricultural picture; and varied sessions designed to train Mr. Butts to better serve his customers through Wayne research-approved feeding programs and improved dairy herd management.

Speaking at the school were Dr. William Byer, Manager, Dairy Department; Jerry K. Smith, Regional Livestock Specialist; Bob Coffman, District representative for Wayne Feeds; and Mr. Hall. Also included in the two-day session was a trip to a Jackson area dairy farm. This tour enabled the participants to see, firsthand, how the Wayne New Concept Challenge Feeding Program enables dairymen to find out how much their cows really can produce. This school was one of the first in a series designed to improve dealer service to Wayne Feeds' customers. Upon completion of the two-year Wayne Dealer Service School, Mr. Butts will become a member of the Division Sales Manager's Council.

Jo's Notebook

If you are one of the 12,000,000 persons who reads Redbook magazine you can well understand why Governor Breathitt has presented Miss Florence Somers of the Redbook staff the first of a new honor bestowed upon individuals for outstanding contribution to the Commonwealth. It was through the efforts of Miss Somers that Milton Cohen, an outstanding writer, contributed a "vacation story" to Redbook, that should result in thousands more persons coming to this State to visit and we hope to live.

The new award is called an "Oscar," and has all the connotations of distinction that the motion picture industry attaches to its annual awards to motion picture artists and producers. If Kentuckians and out-of-staters attach the same significance to the newly created "Oscar" award for service to the travel industry as they do to a Kentucky Colonely, then this State will see a wave of competition for the Oscar that is out of this world. And so will visitors flock here from the same areas.

We congratulate Miss Somers on her high honor and the Department of Public Information for its vision in establishing the competition that will make the sun shine much, much brighter on the travel industry in this State. Don't know how it can get much brighter but if Cattie Lou Miller, Bill Knight and all concerned keep trying in the future as they have in the past, we'll be up to our necks in tourist dollars, and that ain't bad at all!

Last year at this time I was "sweating out" the results of a long and hard campaign that I was waging for the office of State representative from Fulton, Hickman, Carlisle and Ballard counties. I have no regrets about the kind of campaign I waged, and not too many regrets about my defeat, except that I did want to do some things for this district that are vitally needed, and that as yet have not been done, at least through legislative channels.

I got to know many new and wonderful people during the long weeks of campaigning and I have many warm memories of the exciting experience.

Perhaps the nicest memory I have is the pleasure I found in campaigning as the opponent of a fellow newspaper publisher, Ralph Graves of Bardwell. I like to think that Ralph enjoyed being my opponent, too; on Wednesday he proved it.

Ralph called me from Bardwell and said that a group of kindergarten students from Bardwell

Mrs. Harding, Mrs. Pigue Among Select Group At "Status" Meet

Two prominent Fulton club women were among the select group of Kentuckians privileged to attend a luncheon in Lexington last Thursday when Governor Edward T. Breathitt was presented a copy of a two-year long study on the status of women in Kentucky.

Mrs. Lorene Harding, immediate past president of the Fulton Business and Professional Women's Club and Mrs. Ramelle Pigue also a local past president and now first district B&PW director were among the 300 women invited to the gathering when Mrs. Ester Peterson, assistant secretary of labor for labor standards and chairman of the President's Committee on consumer interest, made a dynamic address. Held at the Student Union Building at the University of Kentucky.

Kentucky's study under the chairmanship of Miss Chloe Gifford from UK, dealt with the status of women in education, employment, legal status, home and community, labor for labor standards and volunteer service. Citizenship, culture and religion, Kentucky is the first state to study the last two subjects.

now-extinct Curlin-Niell Hospital, where Dr. Charles Curlin diagnosed the ailment as cancer of the bone.

Dr. Curlin, called in a specialist from Paducah, who verified the diagnosis. Hubert's leg was amputated near the hip and he has walked with an artificial leg, assisted by a cane, ever since. Such a handicap did not deter the ambitions of this young man, who attended Rosenwald High School and then graduated from high school in Paducah.

"I was with him during the whole time he was operated on," shy and quiet-spoken Jim Bransford told a News reporter on Tuesday.

After his graduation a relative suggested to the elder Bransfords that the boy live with her in Detroit warning them that "the chances may be slim for work, but at least we can try." The effort ended up in a real success story with Hubert being named "Graduate of the Year," at the University of Detroit in April.

Hubert's father Jim, is retired "because of a heart condition," from farm work. Jim was born on the Jim Fields farm near Fulton and his wife Verna Chambers Bransford was born on the W. W. Morris farm on State Line Road. Her father Oscar still lives in South Fulton. Her mother, was the late Nettie Morris Chambers, a member of a long-time and respected Negro family in this area.

Marilyn McKendree Gets Top Rating In Piano Test

Marilyn McKendree, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. U. McKendree, auditioned for Nelson and Neal, the Australian-American two piano team, at the University of Tennessee Martin Branch campus on Saturday, May 7.

Marilyn studied piano with her mother until last year and is now a student of Robert Stewart, Assistant Professor in Piano at UTMB. She was one of a number of West Tennessee piano students who entered the auditions, which are a continuation of the West Tennessee Piano Festival, begun on the campus in 1957. This was the first year that Nelson and Neal, who have joined the UTMB staff as Artist-Faculty members, have taken an active part in the auditions. A scholarship competition for high school juniors and seniors has also been added to the day's activities.

Marilyn received the highest rating given and was given a copy of Dr. Neal's book, Wave As You Pass. Nelson and Neal recommended that she return to next year's auditions.

South Fulton now has a population of 2,686 persons, up 174 from the total in 1960 which was 2,512.

Based on the population gains made by the city from 1960 to the present census, the community can foresee a population gain of 13 to 14 percent over the 1960 figure by the time the next official census is taken in 1970.

The population of Fulton, Kentucky, was 3,285 persons in 1960. A recent population study prepared for Fulton indicates that the population of Fulton will be approximately 3,335 persons by 1970 and 3,514 persons by 1980.

The $12,000.00 added revenue that the census figure will bring in is in addition to the approximately $35,000.00 the city has been receiving annually from state funds based on the 1960 census.

The statistical data appearing on this page is interesting reading matter and reveals the strides being made by South Fulton.

Operating under the Council-Manager form of government, South Fulton is rapidly developing into a major shopping center of the area. New residential development areas; new streets; an up-to-date fire and police department; new school buildings; an athletic field; an active industrial development group, are just a few of the major strides made by the city in its march toward progress.

Rex Ruddle is Mayor of South Fulton and Harry Allison is another one of the two Commissioners. Henry Dunn, Jr. is City Manager.

Senator Kennedy Shares Banana Festival's View That Youth Programs Can Change Latin-America

Senator Robert Kennedy, in a recent two-day speech, arguing for new policies to create American goodwill in many Latin-American countries, has brought into national focus the great need for more programs similar to the one being sponsored by our International Banana Festival.

Among other proposals, Senator Kennedy is urging the establishment of new and expanded programs to woo the potentially powerful student groups that are so often the heart of anti-Yankee sentiment.

In a recent Courier-Journal editorial it was pointed out that: "Perhaps no segment of Senator Kennedy's diagnosis showed a keener insight into our Latin problems than his recommendations for appealing to the younger generations."

"These better-educated young men who will be the leaders or the revolutionaries of tomorrow are attracted to communism not because of any special appeal of Marxism, but because U. S. capitalism has been too frequently allied with what to them has seemed disillusion and oppression. We should, he says, greatly increase the number of scholars brought to this country. We should renew our efforts to link with reform. But most of all, he warns, these people 'can be won only by positive programs of social justice... and a share for all men in the decisions that shape their lives.'"

"It is here he touches on what may be the heart of our Latin difficulties—our failure to understand that people need dignity as well as food, to understand why they accept our wheat with resentment, and why the brightest and best young men of Latin America burn the American flag and flock to the ranks of Juan Bosch, Eduardo Frei or even Fidel Castro. As Senator Kennedy says, we must, in the face of disappointing results, increase rather than reduce our aid."

Indeed Senator Kennedy does touch on the heart of the matter in suggesting that we influence the young people of the Latin-American countries. We found this out last year, when under private sponsorship by Operation Amigo, and our own limited finances, some 40 students visited in our homes, our schools, our churches and participated in our civic life.

They loved our country and they loved our way of life, as is evidenced by the fact that more than 50 other students will be coming here, many with their parents, to attend our Fourth International Banana Festival. Many, many more would come if we had the housing and finances to bring them here.

On our recent trip to Ecuador, these students shed tears of joy when they welcomed their new-found American friends, and tears of sadness when they said farewell to us, after our week-long visit.

Senator and Mrs. Kennedy travelled extensively in Latin-America last year, and they saw exactly the things that we did, and that is that these people "want a hand, not a hand-out," as is so effectively being urged by the Partners of the Alliance.

Senator Kennedy is a learned and well-informed public official and a dedicated American. Yet, for whatever it is worth we hasten to advise him that present State Department programs aimed at influencing the youth of Latin-America are at best, poorly conceived and sadly lacking in the people-to-people diplomacy so vital to creating understanding of our country's good intentions of self-help.

We have walked the long corridors in the State Department in Washington on many occasions, following through with every suggestion on financing to help us bring these high school students to our town, to be our guests, to have them know and understand us. Our efforts have been frustrating and unsuccessful thus far.

Our greatest irritations came, (after dozens of contacts with every department conceivable) when we were constantly referred to other agencies, whose programs are privately financed, and many in very limited scope.

While our program has been lauded by such knowledgeable diplomats as roving Ambassador Averell Harriman and Senator John Sherman Cooper and David Bronheim, deputy United States coordinator for the Alliance for Progress, who have attended our Festival, in three years we have yet to generate enthusiasm in the proper places for our proven concept that for foreign nations to know the benefits of the Democratic way of life is to see the democratic process in motion... here, in America, where we live in freedom.

It may be well and good to spend $20,000.00 to send just one professor to Lima, or to spend millions sending Louis Armstrong and American talent to foreign missions, or to spend billions in financial aid.... but nothing speaks louder, or is less expensive in dollars, or more valuable in knowledge, than having young students laugh, and live and study and play together in an aura of happiness such as is afforded by small communities all over America.

We know! We saw it happen here! We saw our results in Ecuador. We will see our efforts pay off tomorrow, led by some of the young Latin-American people who were here. The proof is an excerpt from a letter, received from a student, a sensitive, brilliant young artist who wrote on his return to his home:

"That's why you have got our heart, you have broken that monotony of the life in order to give us a ray of sun, a ray of light, of hope, the hope that all us that we'll be back."

"We'll miss the piece of the sky which covered us; the dark foliage of the trees which looked us tenderly and lovely; the wind which use to escape from the old most fine piano and more than all that song that I'll always keep in my heart, that song we sang and was taught from your lips, 'Getting To Know You'."

"We'll let down the heads and we'll hide the absent tear of love and will bless the heaven for have give us the pleasure of knowing and love you."

FALLEN BROTHER

When you see a fallen brother,
Do you turn away in dread,
Or do you lean above him
With a kindly word instead?
Do you pass along unheeding
Like the lying Pharisee,
Or does your heart of mercy
Glimpse your Christ upon His tree?
Do you leave him, bent and broken
By the weight of his despair,
Or do you ease the anguish
Of the burdens he must bear?
When you see a fallen brother
In the roadway or the street,
Do you kneel to staunch the bleeding
Of Christ's wounded hands and feet?

FULTON'S

Library Corner

by Miss Jessie Orgain

When the word folklore is broken down into two words, we find folk meaning people and lore meaning knowledge. The term was coined in 1846 by the Englishman W. J. Thomas to take the place of popular antiquities.

As currently used, it means the mass of the unrecorded traditions of the people as they appear in magic, ritual, fiction, custom and belief.

A few of the books on folklore on the shelves of the Fulton-South Fulton Library are Paul Bunyan by Esther Shephard. The adventures of Bunyan as a lumberjack and of his blue ox, Babe, have been re-written with illustrations.

The book of Negro folklore by Langston Hughes and Arna Bonaparte has an interesting collection of stories covering a wide range of lore.

Saints in folklore is a story told by Christina Hole of how, as time passed, stories of the Saints were told and retold with variations that would have surprised the saints themselves, could they have read them. Every Christian country has its Saint such as Saint George, Saint Christopher, Saint Catherine and Saint Joseph of Aramathia.

The Telltale Lilac Bush by Ruth Musick. Like all folklore, the tales told here reveal much of the history of West Virginia. In the narratives of murdered peddlers and cattle traders and of domestic tragedies we can perceive the isolation and violence which have continued until quite recently. In the tales of Negro slaves and of the Civil War we can see the passions and bloodshed of that era. In those from the coal mines and the railroads we learn something of the industrial development of the state and of the hardships of those whose labors made it possible. In the tales brought over from Europe by the immigrants we can note the lingering vitality of the Old World traditions.

Aesop. Almost from the time Cutenberg invented movable type, the fables of Aesop have been a perennially popular subject for writers and illustrators—so much that the many and varied versions of them constitute no less than a history of the printed illustrated book. Both the tales themselves and their illustrations have appeared in greatly varying garb, now simple, now highly elegant, sometimes terse, sometimes in elaborate detail.

Folklore of American Weather by Eric Sloane. In preparing this unusual book of American weather sayings and beliefs, Eric Sloane has made a painstaking effort to separate the true from the false, investigating origins and separating the many truly valuable pieces of weather lore from superstition. Following general introductory remarks, Mr. Sloane has arranged his findings in an alphabetical folklore dictionary, enabling the reader to find readily the signs involving stars, wind, dew, rain, or whatever else he wishes. After each entry is a symbol indicating whether it is true, false, or possible.

The Life Treasury of American Folklore. Here, in a joyous book brilliantly illustrated—there are more than a hundred pages of paintings in full color—are old-timers' memories, twangy ballads, laughable exaggerations, rural remedies, censored humor, local traditions, choice jokes, lusty tales of heroes and bad men, witches and wits and troublesome ghosts. Some of the stories in this treasury are little known today, others are old favorites. Some are history lightly romanticized, and some are fantasy, pure and simple. Several are told by famous authors like Mark Twain and Washington Irving; many are told in the vivid idiom of the men and women who experienced the hardships and deep satisfactions of America's formative years. The book also offers a unique glossary and index with more than 500 entries for the principal persons, places, and events of American folklore.

There are many other books in this category waiting for your inspection if you will visit your public library soon.

TRADE WITH COMMUNISTS: "A COVENANT WITH DEATH"

By Dr. N. Burnett Magruder

"We have made a covenant with death and with hell are we in agreement;... and we have made lies our refuge and under falsehoods have we hid ourselves." (Isaiah 28:15)

It has been said that rich and powerful nations are often the means of their own destruction. Now that the drums are beating for renewed trade with Soviet Russia and other Red countries, the question must inevitably arise: Why are the American policy makers determined to assist the Communists in building a world empire which is based on a war against God and a war against Western civilization? If our policy makers are determined to break our Covenant with God and to destroy respect for God, there is no better way to do it than to make a covenant with the Communists. Because then, we will have reached the lowest point of our history in making "a covenant with death" and taking refuge in lies and falsehoods.

The first falsehood on which this policy is based is that we can trust the Communists and can win the cooperation of the Soviets from their undeclared war against us. On January 11, 1964, an editorial in the Indianapolis Star declared that the United States is now backing the Soviet Union in what is called "its power struggle with Red China." This is what is called "peaceful coexistence." Yet Khrushchev, when defining this term to the West explained it as meaning that the Communist Empire and the free nations can get along together side by side; while at the very same time he flatly denies it in statements to the Communists:

"It is permissible to ask the Chinese comrades what means they propose for the destruction of imperialism and capitalism. We not only believe in the inevitable destruction of imperialism and capitalism, but also are doing everything for this to be accomplished by way of the class struggle and as soon as possible."

That is the Moscow line. It is quoted word for word from the official Communist translation of the letter of July 14, 1963 of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union.

It is ironic that on the very morning, May 4, 1966, the Courier-Journal announced the introduction of new legislation to promote trade between the United States and the Communist nations, right next to this dispatch was another story from Moscow reporting that the European Communist bloc was planning a summit meeting for the sole purpose of destroying United States influence in Europe. Of course, from a Communist viewpoint, there is no contradiction between trade with the West and destroying the West. It is only from our side that the contradiction appears. The question is, however, why do our policy makers insist on an economic policy which benefits only the Communists?

There is no doubt that the West in general, and the United States in particular, have financed and built up whatever strength the Soviet economy has today. On March 5, 1962, the U. S. News and World

TENNESSEE PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION

May 16, 1966

Dear Mrs. Westpheling:

Thank you so much for sending me the publicity on your trip to Ecuador. I enjoyed reading it and am sure that it was a very worth-while trip.

If you will advise me the date of the Festival and when the Kentucky and Tennessee State Officials will be in attendance I will certainly make every effort to be there.

Sincerely,
Cayce L. Pentecost

Dear Jo:

I certainly appreciate the very fine supplement concerning your recent trip to Ecuador.

This was a most interesting and imaginative method of tying the people-to-people concept into the Banana Festival.

I remain hopeful that I may be in a position to attend this event.

When I can be of service to you, please contact me.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Paul Westpheling, Publisher
THE NEWS
Fulton, Kentucky

Dear Jo:

I am most grateful for the splendid manner in which you have kept me abreast of your report to the papers public concerning our fantastically successful recent visit to Ecuador. I have read every word of your writings with interest and alacrity and you are truly one of the best in the business. This will acknowledge receipt of the various newspaper articles and certain photographs. Kindly accept my profound appreciation.

The experience was a memorable and rewarding one from the moment we left Miami. Cynthia and Philippa (from London) talked incessantly about their fabulous adventure until the latter departed last Monday for a trip of three weeks to California. She will return here on or about June 1st.

My "freckle circuit" will start in earnest on June 8th. I am tarrying in Missouri to be a Pageant Judge on my way to sit on the Judges' Panel at the Miss Nebraska State Pageant in York. From there I make a hurried flight to the Miss California State Pageant in Santa Cruz. After California will be Michigan and with only one day for travel time. Then I head southwest to the Miss Missouri State Pageant before continuing to North Carolina to help judge 104 contestants at the Miss North Carolina Pageant in Greensboro. This is the largest in the United States. From North Carolina I proceed to Jackson, Tennessee, to tackle another big one, the Miss Tennessee State Pageant. And so it will go...

I was deeply touched by your extremely generous remarks regarding my ambassadorial qualities, etc., and although I may have a different opinion of my work, the ham in me lapped it up.

My eyes are continually alert for outstanding candidates for the International Banana Festival's Princess Pageant. It was my understanding that it would be held in early October but the last edition of your newspaper suggested its commencement during the last week of September. Please enlighten.

With the warmest possible wishes to you and your incomparable husband, Paul, I am

Cordially yours,

Col. Mercer Lee Price
President

Report published an article entitled, "HOW REST OF WORLD BUILT UP RUSSIA." The article consists of a review of an important book by Werner Keller entitled, "EAST MINUS WEST - ZERO." Written in German, the book tells how, when the Soviets came to power in 1917, they seized foreign investments and assets estimated at 3.5 billion dollars. In 1917, Imperial Germany not only sent Lenin and his aides to Russia from Switzerland, but, along with others, helped finance the Bolsheviks until they had overthrown the Czarist Regime. Keller reports in detail how Western and European engineers laid the basis for Russia's present power during the five-year-plan under Stalin. Even the gold they used to pay for imports was discovered and mined by Englishmen and Americans with American equipment.

Billions of dollars of plant and equipment were taken from Eastern Europe and Manchuria after World War II by the Soviets who had been kept going by $11 billion of United States aid under Lend-Lease. He reports "how Russia stole its nuclear secrets from United States, Britain and Canada, how Russia took its rocket power and its sputnik space program from Germany, using Germans to develop it." Now that the Soviet economy is in deep trouble, the Western policy makers are back at it again, encouraging trade in order to bail out the Communists from economic collapse.

Victor Perlo, in his column in the SUNDAY WORKER, the official Communist newspaper, December 6, 1964, entitled "Dollars and Sense" literally glows with satisfaction over the developing prospects for trade with the United States and the Communists. He says:

"Senator Fulbright's report showing a large majority of American capitalists favoring East-West trade, and the enthusiastic interviews of 90 high corporate executives visiting Moscow suggests an imminent lowering of U. S. trade barriers . . . Chase Manhattan Bank President David Rockefeller delivered a key speech on this issue before the Commonwealth Club of San Francisco in September. This leader of the most powerful single capitalist financial-industrial group expressed views approximating the apparent Administration attitude. Formerly his group led the fight against East-West trade. Now Rockefeller speaks out for it rather strongly."

Paul Bethel, editor of Latin America Report said in his January 24 issue:

"In plain truth, competent observers grimly conclude that Russia has, indeed, declared a war of subversion against the free world, and against a United States which is barely aware of the peril. Neither the White House nor the State Department has bestirred itself, even to the point of issuing statements alerting the public to Russian perfidy . . . Yet the Havana conference represents the largest gathering of guerrillas in one spot in the world's history."

Mr. Bethel is referring here to the Tri-Continental Conference which the Communists held in Havana January 3-15, 1966.

Give your children
real security

We don't mean the nicest house in the best neighborhood... the newest, sleekest car... the right schools, the right camps.

We're talking about the kind of security they can't do without... the kind that comes from inside.

Faith. In God. In life. In themselves.

For life is no game for spiritual sissies.

Only Faith... the armor of the spirit... will give them the stamina to meet it courageously, no matter what it brings.

You can show your children where to find faith... how to build it day by day, if you make praying a family affair.

We restoreth your soul... Worship together this week

Governor Breathitt is shown here displaying the newest honorary award established for service to Kentucky. It is a Kentucky "Oscar" given to Miss Florence Somers of Redbook magazine in appreciation of her magazine's contribution to the growth of the travel industry of Kentucky.

Redbook Magazine Given Kentucky's 'Newest' Honor

A New York City travel editor has received both the newest and oldest honorary awards granted by Kentucky.

Governor Edward T. Breathitt presented Miss Florence Somers of Redbook magazine a Kentucky

"Oscar" — brightly-colored statuette of a jockey — and a Kentucky Colonelcy. Governor Breathitt said the Kentucky Oscar, the newest award, will be "tendered as a special award of recognition and appreciation to those on the national scene who contribute most greatly to the growth of Kentucky's travel industry."

Miss Somers has shown in many helpful ways her awareness of Kentucky's growing potential as a vacation state," Breathitt said. "Her most recent demonstration of helpfulness is the 5,000-word article entitled, 'The Sun Shines Bright,' in the May issue of Redbook . . . describing our state to Redbook's 12 million readers as a wonderful place for family vacations," the Governor said.

Written by free-lance writer Martin Cohen, the article describes his family's four-week vacation trip through the Bluegrass state. Among places described in the article are Frankfort, Louisville, Mammoth Cave, Land Between the Lakes National Recreation Area, Kentucky Lake, Lake Cumberland, Cumberland Falls, Levi Jackson Wilderness Road State Park, Berea, Harrodsburg, Shakerstown, Bardstown, Lexington and Big Bone Lick State Park.

The Governor also proclaimed Miss Somers "an Ambassador of Good Will for the Bluegrass State," and commissioned her a Kentucky Colonel.

In return, Miss Somers presented the Governor with a handsome picture which served as the illustration for the magazine story about Kentucky.

While in Kentucky, Miss Somers was accompanied on a tour of Louisville, Frankfort and Lexington by Miss Cattie Lou Miller, commissioner of the Kentucky Department of Public Information. They visited Locust Grove, Farmington and the Belle of Louisville; Frankfort's historic Corner of Celebrities and Daniel Boone's grave; and Lexington's Bluegrass horse farms. Miss Somers, who admitted she is an avid race fan, also watched the May 3 Derby Trial at Churchill Downs.

Miss Somers was born in Atlantic City, N. J., attended Smith College and joined the staff of Redbook in 1936.

She has travelled throughout the world, including such out-of-the-way places as Kashmir and northernmost Alaska.

Buyer, Be Wise, BEWARE!

By Robert Matthews, Attorney General

REFERRAL - SALES "GYPS" OUTLAWED IN KENTUCKY

On request of your Attorney General, the 1966 Legislature passed an act to prohibit chain-referral sales schemes in Kentucky.

Kentucky is one of the first states to protect the buyer from this vicious sales entrapment, which ranks among the top three consumer "gymps" in the United States today.

Earmarks of these schemes usually are:

- (1) Door to door sales.
- (2) Prices higher than standard brands.
- (3) Commissions for recommending friends.
- (4) Hints that you can make extra money.
- (5) High pressure tactics to "sign the paper."

The paper you sign is an installment sales contract which commits you to "pay" whether you earn any commissions or not.

All chain-referral schemes end somewhere. If you buy, it may end with YOU.

Promptly report any schemes to your Attorney General, Frankfort, Kentucky.

DON'T BE FOOLED BY "MAIL ORDER" SCHOOLS

The Division of Consumer Protection in the Attorney General's office recently was successful in recovering a deposit of $200 which a Paris, Ky., man made to an Ohio truck-driving school. Because of his age, he could not have obtained a job as represented, regardless of his knowledge.

Various private schools located in other states are trying to "cash in" on efforts of many Kentuckians to "equip themselves with better educational skills."

Growing advertisements in many publications tell you of "rewards" available after only a few weeks or months of instruction. As in any other field, some of these schools are legitimate, some are not. They offer courses from Art to Zoology, but mostly in technical fields.

Investigate before you sign a contract or make any payment. The legitimate school will still be there next week or next month. The salesman for the school whose "campus" consists of a postoffice box will not be.

Be sure when you complete the course you not only will have the qualifications but also will be capable of getting a job in your new vocation. Knowledge can set you free; obtain it first about the school, and second, from it.

CONSUMER PROTECTION UNIT NOW SERVES KENTUCKIANS

Kentucky has become the nineteenth state to establish a Consumer Protection Division in the Department of Law under the Attorney General. The purpose is to help guard the public from unscrupulous and fraudulent schemes of those who prey upon the unwary.

Consumer protection involves watchfulness in many areas—against misleading advertising, fraudulent sales techniques, unconscionable collection methods, illegal interest charges, to name but a few.

The need for this Division is demonstrated by the volume of complaints received from all sections of the Commonwealth.

Merchants, business associations, industry and professional groups have joined the general public in outspoken support of the Division, and accomplishments to date have been gratifying.

The aim of this column is to keep you informed of the work of the Division in your behalf, and to keep you posted on ways to "beat the cheat."

DON'T BE A VICTIM OF ILLEGAL INTEREST

One of the most expensive purchases a consumer can make is the purchase of money. We do not think of "money" as being for sale, but actually we buy its use every time we borrow or buy on "time." The price we pay for its use is seldom investigated even by wise shoppers.

The demand for money as a commodity has become so great that some unethical lenders ask repayments in excess of 100 percent of the loan.

To avoid being "taken":

terest.

- (2) Check each fee charged.
- (3) Determine total cash by multiplying the amount of payments by the number of payments and adding the down payment.
- (4) Shop around to determine the best "price" for the money you need.
- (5) Always make certain they are licensed by the Department of Banking or that the true simple interest rate is not in excess of the legal rates.

Report any illegal interest-rate schemes to your Attorney General.

SELF-SERVICE, PRE-PACKAGED MEATS CAN BE A PROBLEM!

You can see the top side of the meat but not the bottom. So you wonder.

The steak looks good, but is the bottom all bone and fat?

It's a problem...a problem we've given a lot of thought.

We think we have the answer.

We have a policy.

We put the best side down.

The side you don't see is guaranteed to be equal to or better than the side you can see.

Simple? as ABC.

Effective? No more gamble.

Fair and square? Sure because "We Care."

Is this a good reason for shopping A&P? It's one of many.

Down on the Farm

With JIM PRYOR
Agricultural Agent, Illinois Central Railroad

TREES ARE A CROP, TOO

The proper spacing of the tree population in your forest at different stages of development is accomplished by thinning. Tree population directly affects growth, health, form, and in many cases the species of trees in the timberland. The growth rate and lumber value are profoundly affected by adjusting the area allowed each tree. Hence, thinning is vital in the production of a desirable high quality forest. You should, however, get a forester to assist in this thinning operation since they are trained in marking timber and know what trees should be left.

Here are some examples: A well stocked forty to fifty year old, second growth hardwood stand grew 40 percent faster after thinning. In another hardwood stand growth increased 70 percent after 38 percent of the volume had been removed. In pine and other soft wood the growth rate could be even greater.

Growth habits of forest trees are regulated by their environment.

Closely grown trees will usually be straight with single stems. This is where the lumber grade of U. S. No. 1 begin to grow. Knots in lumber reduce the strength for building and the desirability for use in finish work, thus, it is of low value. Pruning your young trees will help nature produce a much higher quality lumber.

There are two critical factors that determine the rate of growth in both height and diameter. They are soil condition and light. In regard to the soil condition we refer to water, drainage, and available plant food. I am sure we have all seen the light factor here in our area where pine trees were set by the C. C. C. boys some 30 years ago. They have made very poor growth, because they have not had the proper attention. This is due to but one thing... improper thinning and in most cases, no thinning since they were planted. This results only in unprofitable timber and a very unhappy landowner.

This is one of the main reasons forestry progress has been slow in this area. Our woodlands are being slashed away more every year, in many cases because the farmer had seen old stands with no management and no returns.

The farm forest should be protected from fire if at all possible. A few trips around the plantation with a plover every fire season will pay big dividends, this is especially true if a fire spreads to your farm. Fire damages all trees even though some are not killed. A scar will show up in the lumber as evidence, a fire was here!

Our forest areas should be treated as any other cash crop even through the returns may seem rather slow at times. If other crops receive no more attention than the timber areas it is rather doubtful that much profit would be realized from the farming operation.

OBION COUNTY

Joe Martin, County Agent

"BIG MONDAY"

Unless you are familiar with strawberry production you may not have heard of the term "Big Monday" used. Strawberries are ripe and since I have already sampled them I can tell you they are really good. Try some of our home grown strawberries this week and you will realize that the strawberries shipped from other areas just don't compare with Obion County strawberries. "Big Monday" is a term that used to be used to denote the day that usually came on Monday when the peak of strawberry production was reached. "Big Monday" for this area, I would guess would be next Monday.

Obion County does not have many strawberry producers left but you'll have to go a long way to find better strawberry growers than Mr. W. G. Demant and Mr. Tom Wade in the Kenton area.

STOP - READ THE LABEL

A lot of our cotton and corn crops have been planted during the last two weeks and the planting of soybeans has started. An increased amount of chemicals in the way of Herbicides, insecticides, and fungicides are being used in Obion County this year, and we should always remember to STOP and read the labels carefully. Follow label directions carefully on all chemicals used. The more we use chemicals, the more we are likely to avoid reading the labels. Of course, this is when we tend to make a mistake that can be costly.

If any of the chemicals have directions stipulating a certain number of days between application and harvest, we should be careful to allow at least the number of days listed on the label before harvest.

PRE-EMERGE FOR SOYBEANS

Although we don't get as good results from pre-emerging soybeans for weed control as we do in pre-emerging cotton and corn, we recommend the use of Amiben, DCPA, Loro, Treflan, DNB, and NPA plus CIPC. These herbicides should be applied in the same manner as those recommended for cotton. Under optimum moisture conditions, good weed control may be obtained with these materials. Under dry conditions, poor weed control will result and with high moisture some injury to the soybeans may result. If you pre-emerge your soybeans, plant the beans at least one inch deep.

KENWELL FESCUE TESTS TO BE SHOWN MAY 20

Kenwell - a tall fescue developed to provide a grass of higher palatability than the standard KY. 31 fescue - will be featured in a grazing test demonstration May 20 at the Willis Hilliard farm in Hickman County, Kentucky, at 2:00 p. m. (SCT).

The test areas were planted in 1962-1963 in Kentucky and now are being grazed free-choice by livestock. Plant breeders of the United States Department of Agriculture and an official of the Kentucky Seed Improvement Association will be at the test to explain the work.

FEEDER PIG SALE AT DRESDEN

The Weakley County Feeder Pig Sale at Dresden is growing into a big sale and Thursday they will have 1500 feeder pigs in their sale. The sale will be held in the Weakley County livestock Pavilion, May 19 at 1:30 p. m.

The pigs will be vaccinated for this sale and Aaron Walker, Weakley County Agent, informs me that they will have some real good pigs in this sale.

BAG WORMS

The larvae of this defoliator is emerging now on the shrubs around our house. We suggest that any bags on the shrubs from last season be removed and destroyed, and to begin spraying with insecticides such as DDT, Sevin or Malathion.

FARM DATES TO REMEMBER

Coal and concrete highways are partners in progress for western Kentucky

Coal mining in western Kentucky is a major source of jobs and income. Huge quantities of coal are consumed in cement manufacturing. Paving western Kentucky's modern highways with concrete means greater use of coal—more work for miners! And this increased activity benefits other businesses and industries, too! Concrete on these highways not only will mean more work for the miner—it also will provide a first-class road system that attracts new industry and tourists to boost local business even more. Concrete stays solid and smooth-riding, lasts 50 years and more with little maintenance. Based on actual Kentucky records, upkeep expense runs 75 per cent less than for asphalt.

Today in western Kentucky, coal and concrete highways truly are partners in progress. With miners, businessmen, and everyone concerned with the future of the area, the choice for highways is modern concrete.

This message sponsored jointly by:

THE PORTLAND CEMENT ASSOCIATION, Louisville, Ky.
(An organization to improve and extend the use of concrete, made possible by the financial support of most competing cement manufacturers in the United States and Canada)

WESTERN KENTUCKY COAL PRODUCERS ASSOCIATION, Madisonville, Ky.

BARKLEY LAKE STOCKED — Biologists from the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources place plastic water-filled bags containing rockfish in Barkley Lake. After a "tempering" process, when the water in the plastic bag becomes the same temperature as the lake water, the tiny fish, numbering about three million, are released at various sites around the 45,600-acre lake.

Barkley Lake's New Residents May Be "Young Fry" Now, But "Pan Fry" Soon

"They're just 'young fry' today, but it won't be long before they pan-fry."

That's the way Harry Towles, of the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, summed up the stocking of Barkley Lake last week with some three million baby rockfish.

Towles said that if only 50 percent of the tiny fish survive, Barkley Lake fishermen can expect to harvest a fine crop of the landlocked ocean strippers which have adapted to fresh water.

A very tasty species, rockfish grow quite large with weights of 30 to 40 pounds not uncommon.

Kentucky's rockfish stocking program began in 1957 when a dozen fish ranging from two to 12 pounds were released in Lake Cumberland. Since that time, hundred of rockfish in various stages of growth have been placed in Lake Cumberland, Lake Herrington and Kentucky Lake.

Kentucky fishermen are encouraged to report the taking of rockfish to conservation officers or the Fish and Wildlife Department so biologists can determine growth progress and other data on reproduction.

It is believed that rockfish will reproduce in Kentucky. Fertile eggs have been found in random samplings of stocked waters, Towles said, however no young fish have been found.

The young rockfish placed in Lake Barkley were raised in a hatchery operated by the South Carolina Fish and Game Commission. Eggs were taken from female rockfish this spring, fertilized and allowed to hatch.

They were flown to Ft. Campbell, Ky., last Wednesday aboard a Tennessee Valley Authority airplane.

Biologists from Kentucky and Tennessee received the fish which were packaged in water-filled plastic bags. After movement to Lake Barkley, the young fry were released at various locations along the huge lake, both in Kentucky and Tennessee.

Towles said some of the rockfish were taken to the Federal hatchery at Frankfort where they may be studied more closely.

The rockfish stocking program is a cooperative venture with Kentucky, Tennessee, South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia, the TVA, Murray State College and numerous other State and Federal groups.

Southern States Official Speaks For Auto Safety

W. T. Steele Jr., general manager of Southern States Cooperative spoke out for the traffic safety movement today by endorsing the new 1966 National Drivers Test. The Drivers test will be televised in color over the CBS network on Tuesday, May 24.

The new 1966 National Drivers Test is the second in a series of safety specials which won wide acclaim about a year ago. The new Test will cover key areas of traffic fatalities not included in the first test.

This year's Test will include more questions and will cover a broader range of driving experiences. "With what we learned from last year's Test," said Steele, "This year's program should give each of us who drives a real insight to our capabilities behind the wheel of a car."

In endorsing the Drivers Test, Steele said employees and families of Southern States Cooperative would actively support the program.

Obion County Cotton Farmers Vote Allotments

Cotton farmers in Obion County will vote this month to decide whether they want to be able to sell or lease their cotton allotments outside the county. The referendum on the question will be conducted by mail during the period May 16 through May 23. Ballots may also be delivered by hand to the ASCS county offices.

The only question to be decided by the balloting is whether upland cotton allotments may be transferred during the next 3 years to other farms outside the county which are owned or controlled by someone else. Such transfers may be made by sale or by lease. In no case may transfers be made outside the State. An affirmative vote by at least two-thirds of the county's cotton farmers who vote will permit such transfers for the next three upland cotton crops, 1967-69. A referendum on the same question was conducted last fall throughout the Cotton Belt, and growers in 349 counties at that time approved the allotment transfers. The vote this May will be held only in counties which disapproved such transfers in last fall's voting.

The upcoming vote by mail marks a first in program administration. Farmers previously have been able to vote by mail in annual ASCS committeeman elections, but the method has never before been used in a commodity program referendum.

It's easy to vote by mail, and we hope all producers will vote. The vote should be fully representative of the wishes of cotton farmers in our county.

Copies of the ballot have been sent to all cotton producers of record in the county, together with information describing the program's purpose and operation. Any cotton producer who has a question about the referendum or about who is eligible to vote, is urged to get in touch with the ASCS county office.

CITY OF SOUTH FULTON, TENNESSEE

Hubert Bransford (left) has been named "Graduate of the Year" by his classmates at the University of Detroit Evening College of Commerce and Finance. The 44-year-old accounting major started his college education seventeen years ago, continued it on and off, in spite of numerous difficulties. He receives that "Graduate of the Year" plaque from senior class president Al Kelpinski.

BRANSFORD—

"Of course we're proud of Hubert," Verna and Jim said almost in unison, "but we're also proud of all our other children and grandchildren." A grandson, one of "about 30 grandchildren," lives with them. Another son, Harold, is serving a second hitch in the Armed Forces and is presently stationed in Viet Nam.

Here's one of the stories that appeared in the Detroit newspaper.

It's taken 17 years and many detours for this day to arrive when Hubert Bransford can finally refer to himself as a college graduate.

"It's been worth every step," said the 44-year-old accountant before receiving his bachelor's degree in business administration at the University of Detroit's graduation exercises on April 30.

Bransford started his college career in 1949 by working days and going to school at night.

He began making his way toward higher education on a country road outside Fulton, when he was 13. Each day he trudged a mile on crutches from his family's farm to a one-room schoolhouse.

The youngster's right leg was amputated. He had suffered cancer of the bone.

"I liked books and decided to obtain all the education I could," he said.

Since then he has passed this love to his children, Donnell, 16, a high school junior, and Elaine, 21, a senior at Lincoln University in Missouri.

Bransford, who now is the accountant at the Goodwill Industries of Greater Detroit, recalled that in his youth "there were no high schools for Negroes in Fulton." But there was one in Paducah, 50 miles away. Bransford took an aptitude test offered by the Kentucky Department of Vocational Rehabilitation. He passed it and learned that the only opening was in a student training program for tailoring.

"I grabbed the chance. I didn't care what I studied just as long as I could have a high school education and diploma."

It was an achievement that only sharpened his appetite for learning when he went to live with relatives in Detroit. He was 23 and there were sewing repair jobs in cleaning establishments.

There was also the Michigan Department of Vocational Rehabilitation, where he took more aptitude tests and then was offered an opportunity to study accounting at the Detroit Institute of Commerce.

"It was a good opportunity, and after I graduated I was given a job at Goodwill in 1948," he commented.

"All this time I was telling the children about the importance of a college education. I thought I ought to practice what I preached and set an example before they asked me why I didn't have a college degree. That's one of the reasons I started night classes at U. of D."

Illness briefly interrupted, but did not curtail, Bransford's college studies.

"I went back and finally this day has arrived," he said in his home at 2297 Virginia Park.

"I hope to go back some day and take post-graduate classes, but first - and I'm sure my wife will approve - there's some household chores like painting shutters and mowing the lawn. Then maybe I'll go back to the books."

A friend noticed that Bransford has acquired more than a diploma for his efforts. His fellow students at the University's College of Commerce and Finance presented him with a plaque as "Senior of the Year."

Happy Birthday

Ralph called and asked if I would take a picture of the group so that he could have it for this week's paper, and I obliged, of course.

Politics is a rough and tumble game, but when two opponents can end a campaign without any hard feelings and continue an already good friendship, then this business of politics has some hope. At least Ralph and I think it has anyhow!

When the time comes that people seek an office for true public service, character assassination will also become a penitentiary offense.

The president, Mrs. Lewis Patrick, was in charge of a short business session.

Mrs. W. A. Marchman Receives The G-r-rowl Dedication At Assembly

A surprised Mrs. Marchman receives the Annual at the Benediction Ceremony. An English teacher, Mrs. Marchman, hails from Macon, Georgia and lives in Martin.

From The Fulton "Kennel"

This year's 1966 G-r-rowl has been dedicated to Mrs. Judy Marchman, English teacher at Fulton High. Hailing from Macon, Georgia, obviously, where she was graduated from high school and Mercer University, Mrs. Marchman came to Fulton High in 1964. Since then English has taken on a new light. An interesting addition for Juniors is Speech and Debate, which had been discontinued here until Mrs. Marchman came. She took journalism in high school and college and worked on her high school and college papers and then on the city newspaper. She is now sponsor of the Quill and Scroll and the "Kennel".

In accepting the dedication, Mrs. Marchman thanked the seniors for the cooperation and enthusiasm which were shown in all that they undertook.

The reason why the annual was dedicated to her can best be summed up in the dedication itself: "How do we say 'thank you' to a person who has meant so much to us during our past years? You have been more than a friend, for you have helped each and every one of us in some special way. You have overlooked our forgetfulness, and our inconsideration as you have pushed us farther along the road to maturity. Because of your interest in the students and your eagerness to help them has endeared you to all who have come under your influence and since you mean so much to so many, we, the tion and appreciation, dedicate the 1966 G-R-R-OWL to you, Mrs. W. A. Marchman."

Rains Will Delay Plans For Parkway

Heavy rains in the past few days have virtually wiped out any chance of meeting a May 20 date originally scheduled for the opening of a relocated section of Western Kentucky Parkway east of Princeton.

Reports from the district highway department office in Madisonville indicate that barring unusually heavy rains in the next few weeks the parkway section will be opened to traffic around June 1.

A landslide in the westbound lane about eight miles east of Princeton ruined a .9 mile section of the parkway about a year ago. It has been opened only to one-way traffic since then.

The section has been rebuilt south of the ruined section. The entire project will cost around $600,000.

RE-ELECT STEWART

Judge Brady Stewart
Candidate - Kentucky Court of Appeals

(Paid Political Advertisement)

Hubert Bransford (left) has been named "Graduate of the Year" by his classmates at the University of Detroit Evening College of Commerce and Finance. The 44-year-old accounting major started his college education seventeen years ago, continued it on and off, in spite of numerous difficulties. He receives that "Graduate of the Year" plaque from senior class president Al Kelpinski.

BRANSFORD—

"Of course we're proud of Hubert," Verna and Jim said almost in unison, "but we're also proud of all our other children and grandchildren." A grandson, one of "about 30 grandchildren," lives with them. Another son, Harold, is serving a second hitch in the Armed Forces and is presently stationed in Viet Nam.
Here's one of the stories that appeared in the Detroit newspaper.

It's taken 17 years and many detours for this day to arrive when Hubert Bransford can finally refer to himself as a college graduate.

"It's been worth every step," said the 44-year-old accountant before receiving his bachelor's degree in business administration at the University of Detroit's graduation exercises on April 30.

Bransford started his college career in 1949 by working days and going to school at night.

He began making his way toward higher education on a country road outside Fulton, when he was 13. Each day he trudged a mile on crutches from his family's farm to a one-room schoolhouse.

The youngster's right leg was amputated. He had suffered cancer of the bone.

"I liked books and decided to obtain all the education I could," he said.

Since then, he has passed this love to his children, Donnell, 16, a high school junior, and Elaine, 21, a senior at Lincoln University in Missouri.

Bransford, who now is the accountant at the Goodwill Industries of Greater Detroit, recalled that in his youth "there were no high schools for Negroes in Fulton."

But there was one in Paducah, 50 miles away. Bransford took an aptitude test offered by the Kentucky Department of Vocational Rehabilitation. He passed it and learned that the only opening was in a student training program for tailoring.

"I grabbed the chance. I didn't care what I studied just as long as I could have a high school education and diploma."

It was an achievement that only sharpened his appetite for learning when he went to live with relatives in Detroit. He was 23 and there were sewing repair jobs in cleaning establishments.

There was also the Michigan Department of Vocational Rehabilitation, where he took more aptitude tests and then was offered an opportunity to study accounting at the Detroit Institute of Commerce.

"It was a good opportunity, and after I graduated I was given a job at Goodwill in 1948," he commented.

"All this time I was telling the children about the importance of a college education. I thought I ought to practice what I preached and set an example before they asked me why I didn't have a college degree. That's one of the reasons I started night classes at U. of D."

Illness briefly interrupted, but did not curtail, Bransford's college studies.

"I went back and finally this day has arrived," he said in his home at 2297 Virginia Park.

"I hope to go back some day and take post-graduate classes, but first - and I'm sure my wife will approve - there's some household chores like painting shutters and mowing the lawn. Then maybe I'll go back to the books."

A friend noticed that Bransford has acquired more than a diploma for his efforts. His fellow students at the University's College of Commerce and Finance presented him with a plaque as "Senior of the Year."

SPOTLIGHTING THE Exchange Furniture Co.

YOU'RE LOOKING FOR PAINT, we've got it... say Nell Graham, Robert Graham and Darrell Wilson at Exchange Furniture Company. The paint department is just one section of this bustling store on Commercial Avenue.

Today's Shopper "Spotlight" is on the Exchange Furniture Company, the oldest used furniture store in Fulton, and a firm that has enjoyed a good business through-out its 35 years serving the Kenton area.

Exchange Furniture Company is, of course, more than just a furniture store. It is an old, well-established paint store that handles a complete line of Martin Senour paints and supplies, and it is also one of the best-known stores in this area for wallpaper and paper-hanger's supplies.

Exchange Furniture Company began business in 1931, deep in the days of the great depression of that time. In 1932 the firm moved from its location on upper Lake Street to Church Street (now Commercial Avenue), and began its long and steady growth in the furniture, paint and wallpaper business. In 1946 the Company built its present building on Commercial Avenue and moved across the street to it, and thus it has remained to this day.

Exchange is managed by Robert Graham, and has been throughout its 35 years of existence. Mr. Graham is assisted by his capable wife, Nell, and by Darrell Wilson, assistant manager and salesman. Darrell, who lives on Route 2, Water Valley, has been with Exchange for 18 years. Sam Nesbitt, deliveryman, has been with the company for 27 years.

Exchange Furniture Company has 5,500 square feet of display space for its new furniture department, paints and wallpaper, and 3,000 square feet of space on its second floor for used furniture display, so don't make the mistake of walking in the front door and think you are seeing everything right there on the ground floor!

When you are looking for a good bargain in used furniture, always be sure to visit Exchange. On the second floor there are rows and rows of all kinds of used furniture at bargain prices. You are always welcome to come in and browse around!

and ranges at Exchange are reconditioned and guaranteed.

In its paint department Exchange stocks a complete line of Martin Senour paints for interior and exterior use, and its color-coded paint mixer can provide 1500 colors of paint. Additional supplies in this department include nearly everything the painter needs: caulking, brushes, thinners, buckets, ladders, rollers, colors for tinting and a full line of supplies for the popular "antiquing" that has become such a hobby in many households.

The wallpaper department includes a giant selection of wallpaper for every taste and every price range, as well as a complete stock of such items as borders, trims, pastes, brushes and other necessities for the paperhanger.

In addition, Exchange features a good selection of the well-known and popular Gold Seal Congoleum in 9 and 12-foot widths.

Exchange Furniture Company is known for its friendly, courteous treatment, for its dependability and for its values. When you are in the market for furniture, paint, wallpaper or linoleum, visit Exchange Furniture Company and the chances are you'll become another of their thousands of satisfied customers!

Masons Invite Friends To Join In Celebration

Patriotic meetings in three different sections of the State are planned for Sunday, June 12, as a combined observance of this year's Masonic Fraternal Day in Kentucky and Flag Day.

Plans for the meetings, to be held simultaneously at 2:00 p.m., in Madisonville, Louisville and Richmond, were announced by Thomas Burchett, Jr., Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Kentucky Masons. Masons are encouraged to bring non-affiliated friends.

The fact that Flag Day falls on June 14, prompted Burchett's decision to combine its observance with Masonic Fraternal Day, which annually has been the subject of a proclamation by the Governor.

The three meetings will place special emphasis on the Constitution of the United States and on Americanism. All veterans and members of patriotic organizations are especially invited to attend. The meetings will be held in the three Masonic areas of the State: At Rappahannock Temple, Madisonville; Garnett Hall at the Masonic Home, Louisville; and Eastern State University Coliseum, Richmond.

Wendell P. Butler
Commissioner
Ky. Dept. of Agriculture

The fourth annual Kentucky National Guernsey Show and Sale will be held at the Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center on May 22-23. A change has been made in this year's program in that the show will be held on Sunday afternoon, starting at 3:00 p.m.

Judging this year's event will be Clyde Chappell, an extension dairyman from the University of Tennessee. At 7:00 p.m. Sunday evening, the annual banquet and awards program will be held in the Savarin Restaurant at the Exposition Center.

A total of 47 animals have been consigned to the show and sale this year. Of these, 43 are females. As with all of the National shows and sales, each animal has been carefully selected by a screening committee. All have met the high standards set by the Kentucky Department of Agriculture and the show and sale committee of the Kentucky Guernsey Breeders Association.

J. L. Coats, Finchville, is chairman of the show and sale committee. He says this year's consignments should offer Kentucky dairymen a good opportunity to buy some top-bred animals for their herds. He points out that all of the animals are well above breed requirements in production.

Plans for Kentucky's observance of June Dairy Month are well underway, and this year's program should be a fine one. Bob Johnson of Oscar Ewing Dairy, Louisville, has been named to serve as June Dairy Month chairman.

The Department's two dairy specialists, Wallace Campbell and Charlie Irwin, will be working closely with the June Dairy Month Committee in holding special programs throughout the State. Promotional services of the Department will also be directed toward assisting with this annual event.

Some 60 counties had special programs last year as their observance of June Dairy Month. These programs included such things as a "June Dairy Day," publicity projects, and the naming of a dairy princess. I would hope that an even greater number of activities will be held this June.

The Kentucky Bluegrass Championship Sheep Dog Trials will be held on June 4 and 5 this year. Site of this entertaining and colorful event will be the Walnut Hall Farm, located on the Newton Pike in Fayette County.

ONE OF THE OLDEST AND MOST-RESPECTED FAMILIES IN ENGLAND IS NAMED COPE. AMONG THEM, SIR WALTER COPE SERVED QUEEN ELIZABETH I, SIR ANTHONY COPE SERVED THREE KINGS: HENRY VII, HENRY VIII, AND EDWARD I. THE FAMILY MOTTO WAS, "COME WITH A SPIRITED HORSE." THE FIRST COPE CAME TO AMERICA AROUND 1784.

OF SOME 33,000 TOWNS IN THE U.S., ONLY TWO ARE NAMED COPE. THE ONE IN COLORADO IS OLDER, FOUNDED BY JONATHAN C. COPE IN 1897. A FARMING COMMUNITY IN THE EASTERN PART OF THE STATE, IT HAS 130 RESIDENTS.

COPE, S.C., FOUNDED ABOUT 70 YEARS AGO, HAS ORIGINALLY COPE'S STATION. A FAMILY NAMED COPE GAVE RIGHT-OF-WAY FOR THE RAILROAD. ALSO A FARMING COMMUNITY, IT HAS A POPULATION OF 250. COPE IS ALSO THE NAME FOR A NEW AND UNIQUE HEADACHE REMEDY, CREATED ESPECIALLY FOR WOMEN'S EVERYDAY NERVOUS TENSION HEADACHES.
